StreetSmart Meeting Launches Offering Free Conference Calling and Free Calendaring for Everyone

Posted Tuesday, Jun. 08, 2010

TARZANA, Calif. — InfoStreet Inc. is pleased to announce the launch of a free calendaring and conferencing service, StreetSmart Meeting, that makes group calls as easy as 1-2-3, even while on the go. With virtual meetings on the rise, conference calling has become a high-demand service with premium fees attached. Now, with StreetSmart Meeting, conference calls can take place for free anytime, anywhere. The service also offers permanent conference call numbers so people can start conferences without having to be next to a computer to schedule the call. This feature allows for impromptu calls with colleagues without the hassle of setting up a specific event just to have a group call.

To make scheduling and inviting colleagues and friends or family to virtual meetings a seamless process, StreetSmart Meeting also includes a calendar tool that will generate invites and also offer reminders for these important group calls. Calls are secure and, for added convenience, calls may be recorded and stored for playback for up to 90 days) – all at no charge.

"InfoStreet has dedicated itself to small business success by providing world-class software solutions at unheard of levels of affordability," said Siamak Farah, founder and CEO of InfoStreet Inc. "StreetSmart Meeting was a natural extension for us, allowing us to extend our offering, in this case a totally free consumer and small business service, to a wider market, and by so doing, educate a new group of consumers on the benefits of Web-delivered productivity software."

Reliable and secure, StreetSmart Meeting allows users to create and manage all their conference calls with ease. So whether on the move, working from home or in the office, StreetSmart Meeting can help make sure that users remain connected when it matters.

KEY FEATURES

Users can schedule, manage and host conference calls at any time. StreetSmart Meeting is available 24/7.

Instant activation! No long forms to complete.

Conference participants can join the call using a landline or a cell phone, thus ensuring it is always convenient.

Users have a dedicated dial in number and access codes.

Or users can create multiple a one-time conference call bridge number and access code on the fly. This allows users to host multiple conferences simultaneously.

Joining a meeting is as easy as dialing the phone number and punching in the access code.

There are no time limits on user's conference calls and users can have as many as 150 people on the line!

Convenient email invites provide user's attendees with all of the information they need to join the conference call. And the invite can even be added to Outlook.
